

Alan Hartley
Noah's Ark
29 River View
Barlby
SELBY
YO8 5JT

30 January 2003

Dear Alan

Date of Abolition of CHCs

We have had it confirmed today that the announcement of the abolition of CHCs and ACHCEW will be made tomorrow, Friday 31st January by David Lammy, the Parliamentary Under Secretary of State for Health, at approximately 10am and that a further announcement will be made by the new Commission (CPPIH) in the afternoon.

The abolition date will be on Sept 1st 2003 and the new system of public and patient involvement (Patients' Forums) will be up and running by 1st April 2004. The ICAS system is expected to follow the development of Patients' Forums as money becomes available. The budget for the new system will be £34million. There will be 150 local organisations based on overview and scrutiny areas and each one of these bodies will be responsible for establishing the Patients' Forums in their area. In all there will be 500 Patients' Forums covering Primary Care Trusts and NHS Trusts.

Further information will be sent out as soon as it becomes available.

Yours sincerely

MALCOLM ALEXANDER
Director

Jane Jeffs
Association of Welsh CHCs
Park House
Greyfriars Road
CARDIFF
CF10 3AF

30 January 2003

Dear Jane

Date of Abolition of CHCs

We have had it confirmed today that the announcement of the abolition of CHCs and ACHCEW will be made tomorrow, Friday 31st January by David Lammy, the Parliamentary Under Secretary of State for Health, at approximately 10am and that a further announcement will be made by the new Commission (CPPIH) in the afternoon.

The abolition date will be on Sept 1st 2003 and the new system of public and patient involvement (Patients' Forums) will be up and running by 1st April 2004. The ICAS system is expected to follow the development of Patients' Forums as money becomes available. The budget for the new system will be £34million. There will be 150 local organisations based on overview and scrutiny areas and each one of these bodies will be responsible for establishing the Patients' Forums in their area. In all there will be 500 Patients' Forums covering Primary Care Trusts and NHS Trusts.

Further information will be sent out as soon as it becomes available.

Yours sincerely

MALCOLM ALEXANDER
Director

Graham Girvan
Darlington & Teesdale CHC
2 Maude Street
DARLINGTON
DL3 7PW

30 January 2003

Dear Graham

Date of Abolition of CHCs

We have had it confirmed today that the announcement of the abolition of CHCs and ACHCEW will be made tomorrow, Friday 31st January by David Lammy, the Parliamentary Under Secretary of State for Health, at approximately 10am and that a further announcement will be made by the new Commission (CPPIH) in the afternoon.

The abolition date will be on Sept 1st 2003 and the new system of public and patient involvement (Patients' Forums) will be up and running by 1st April 2004. The ICAS system is expected to follow the development of Patients' Forums as money becomes available. The budget for the new system will be £34million. There will be 150 local organisations based on overview and scrutiny areas and each one of these bodies will be responsible for establishing the Patients' Forums in their area. In all there will be 500 Patients' Forums covering Primary Care Trusts and NHS Trusts.

Further information will be sent out as soon as it becomes available.

Yours sincerely

MALCOLM ALEXANDER
Director

Frances Johnson
West Berkshire CHC
10 Gun Street
READING
W Berks
RG1 2JR

30 January 2003

Dear Frances

Date of Abolition of CHCs

We have had it confirmed today that the announcement of the abolition of CHCs and ACHCEW will be made tomorrow, Friday 31st January by David Lammy, the Parliamentary Under Secretary of State for Health, at approximately 10am and that a further announcement will be made by the new Commission (CPPIH) in the afternoon.

The abolition date will be on Sept 1st 2003 and the new system of public and patient involvement (Patients' Forums) will be up and running by 1st April 2004. The ICAS system is expected to follow the development of Patients' Forums as money becomes available. The budget for the new system will be £34million. There will be 150 local organisations based on overview and scrutiny areas and each one of these bodies will be responsible for establishing the Patients' Forums in their area. In all there will be 500 Patients' Forums covering Primary Care Trusts and NHS Trusts.

Further information will be sent out as soon as it becomes available.

Yours sincerely

MALCOLM ALEXANDER
Director

Bill Coltham
Bexley CHC
11a Upton Road
BEXLEYHEATH
Kent
DA6 8LQ

30 January 2003

Dear Bill

Date of Abolition of CHCs

We have had it confirmed today that the announcement of the abolition of CHCs and ACHCEW will be made tomorrow, Friday 31st January by David Lammy, the Parliamentary Under Secretary of State for Health, at approximately 10am and that a further announcement will be made by the new Commission (CPPIH) in the afternoon.

The abolition date will be on Sept 1st 2003 and the new system of public and patient involvement (Patients' Forums) will be up and running by 1st April 2004. The ICAS system is expected to follow the development of Patients' Forums as money becomes available. The budget for the new system will be £34million. There will be 150 local organisations based on overview and scrutiny areas and each one of these bodies will be responsible for establishing the Patients' Forums in their area. In all there will be 500 Patients' Forums covering Primary Care Trusts and NHS Trusts.

Further information will be sent out as soon as it becomes available.

Yours sincerely

MALCOLM ALEXANDER
Director

Valerie Bryden
South Durham & Weardale CHC
14 Tenters Street
BISHOP AUCKLAND
Co Durham
DL14 7AD

30 January 2003

Dear Valerie

Date of Abolition of CHCs

We have had it confirmed today that the announcement of the abolition of CHCs and ACHCEW will be made tomorrow, Friday 31st January by David Lammy, the Parliamentary Under Secretary of State for Health, at approximately 10am and that a further announcement will be made by the new Commission (CPPIH) in the afternoon.

The abolition date will be on Sept 1st 2003 and the new system of public and patient involvement (Patients' Forums) will be up and running by 1st April 2004. The ICAS system is expected to follow the development of Patients' Forums as money becomes available. The budget for the new system will be £34million. There will be 150 local organisations based on overview and scrutiny areas and each one of these bodies will be responsible for establishing the Patients' Forums in their area. In all there will be 500 Patients' Forums covering Primary Care Trusts and NHS Trusts.

Further information will be sent out as soon as it becomes available.

Yours sincerely

MALCOLM ALEXANDER
Director

Gordon Peake
26 Barbara Close
Church Crookham
FLEET
GU13 0AX

30 January 2003

Dear Gordon

Date of Abolition of CHCs

We have had it confirmed today that the announcement of the abolition of CHCs and ACHCEW will be made tomorrow, Friday 31st January by David Lammy, the Parliamentary Under Secretary of State for Health, at approximately 10am and that a further announcement will be made by the new Commission (CPPIH) in the afternoon.

The abolition date will be on Sept 1st 2003 and the new system of public and patient involvement (Patients' Forums) will be up and running by 1st April 2004. The ICAS system is expected to follow the development of Patients' Forums as money becomes available. The budget for the new system will be £34million. There will be 150 local organisations based on overview and scrutiny areas and each one of these bodies will be responsible for establishing the Patients' Forums in their area. In all there will be 500 Patients' Forums covering Primary Care Trusts and NHS Trusts.

Further information will be sent out as soon as it becomes available.

Yours sincerely

MALCOLM ALEXANDER
Director

Tommy Morgan
Highbury
Dinas Terrace
ABERYSTWYTH
S23 1BT

30 January 2003

Dear Tommy

Date of Abolition of CHCs

We have had it confirmed today that the announcement of the abolition of CHCs and ACHCEW will be made tomorrow, Friday 31st January by David Lammy, the Parliamentary Under Secretary of State for Health, at approximately 10am and that a further announcement will be made by the new Commission (CPPIH) in the afternoon.

The abolition date will be on Sept 1st 2003 and the new system of public and patient involvement (Patients' Forums) will be up and running by 1st April 2004. The ICAS system is expected to follow the development of Patients' Forums as money becomes available. The budget for the new system will be £34million. There will be 150 local organisations based on overview and scrutiny areas and each one of these bodies will be responsible for establishing the Patients' Forums in their area. In all there will be 500 Patients' Forums covering Primary Care Trusts and NHS Trusts.

Further information will be sent out as soon as it becomes available.

Yours sincerely

MALCOLM ALEXANDER
Director

Pauline Davis
11 Lobelia Close
Franche
KIDDERMINSTER
DY1 5HX

30 January 2003

Dear Pauline

Date of Abolition of CHCs

We have had it confirmed today that the announcement of the abolition of CHCs and ACHCEW will be made tomorrow, Friday 31st January by David Lammy, the Parliamentary Under Secretary of State for Health, at approximately 10am and that a further announcement will be made by the new Commission (CPPIH) in the afternoon.

The abolition date will be on Sept 1st 2003 and the new system of public and patient involvement (Patients' Forums) will be up and running by 1st April 2004. The ICAS system is expected to follow the development of Patients' Forums as money becomes available. The budget for the new system will be £34million. There will be 150 local organisations based on overview and scrutiny areas and each one of these bodies will be responsible for establishing the Patients' Forums in their area. In all there will be 500 Patients' Forums covering Primary Care Trusts and NHS Trusts.

Further information will be sent out as soon as it becomes available.

Yours sincerely

MALCOLM ALEXANDER
Director

Lesley Hilton
NHS Executive
Quarry House
Quarry Hill
LEEDS
LS2 7UE

30 January 2003

Dear Lesley

Date of Abolition of CHCs

We have had it confirmed today that the announcement of the abolition of CHCs and ACHCEW will be made tomorrow, Friday 31st January by David Lammy, the Parliamentary Under Secretary of State for Health, at approximately 10am and that a further announcement will be made by the new Commission (CPPIH) in the afternoon.

The abolition date will be on Sept 1st 2003 and the new system of public and patient involvement (Patients' Forums) will be up and running by 1st April 2004. The ICAS system is expected to follow the development of Patients' Forums as money becomes available. The budget for the new system will be £34million. There will be 150 local organisations based on overview and scrutiny areas and each one of these bodies will be responsible for establishing the Patients' Forums in their area. In all there will be 500 Patients' Forums covering Primary Care Trusts and NHS Trusts.

Further information will be sent out as soon as it becomes available.

Yours sincerely

MALCOLM ALEXANDER
Director

Tony Tester
4 Bridge Road
LUTON
LU1 2NF

30 January 2003

Dear Tony

Date of Abolition of CHCs

We have had it confirmed today that the announcement of the abolition of CHCs and ACHCEW will be made tomorrow, Friday 31st January by David Lammy, the Parliamentary Under Secretary of State for Health, at approximately 10am and that a further announcement will be made by the new Commission (CPPIH) in the afternoon.

The abolition date will be on Sept 1st 2003 and the new system of public and patient involvement (Patients' Forums) will be up and running by 1st April 2004. The ICAS system is expected to follow the development of Patients' Forums as money becomes available. The budget for the new system will be £34million. There will be 150 local organisations based on overview and scrutiny areas and each one of these bodies will be responsible for establishing the Patients' Forums in their area. In all there will be 500 Patients' Forums covering Primary Care Trusts and NHS Trusts.

Further information will be sent out as soon as it becomes available.

Yours sincerely

MALCOLM ALEXANDER
Director

John Seddon
8 Hillside Avenue
Blackrod
BOLTON
BL6 5BS

30 January 2003

Dear John

Date of Abolition of CHCs

We have had it confirmed today that the announcement of the abolition of CHCs and ACHCEW will be made tomorrow, Friday 31st January by David Lammy, the Parliamentary Under Secretary of State for Health, at approximately 10am and that a further announcement will be made by the new Commission (CPPIH) in the afternoon.

The abolition date will be on Sept 1st 2003 and the new system of public and patient involvement (Patients' Forums) will be up and running by 1st April 2004. The ICAS system is expected to follow the development of Patients' Forums as money becomes available. The budget for the new system will be £34million. There will be 150 local organisations based on overview and scrutiny areas and each one of these bodies will be responsible for establishing the Patients' Forums in their area. In all there will be 500 Patients' Forums covering Primary Care Trusts and NHS Trusts.

Further information will be sent out as soon as it becomes available.

Yours sincerely

MALCOLM ALEXANDER
Director

Frank Rust
9 Haig Road
Aldershot
Hants
GU12 4PS

30 January 2003

Dear Frank

Date of Abolition of CHCs

We have had it confirmed today that the announcement of the abolition of CHCs and ACHCEW will be made tomorrow, Friday 31st January by David Lammy, the Parliamentary Under Secretary of State for Health, at approximately 10am and that a further announcement will be made by the new Commission (CPPIH) in the afternoon.

The abolition date will be on Sept 1st 2003 and the new system of public and patient involvement (Patients' Forums) will be up and running by 1st April 2004. The ICAS system is expected to follow the development of Patients' Forums as money becomes available. The budget for the new system will be £34million. There will be 150 local organisations based on overview and scrutiny areas and each one of these bodies will be responsible for establishing the Patients' Forums in their area. In all there will be 500 Patients' Forums covering Primary Care Trusts and NHS Trusts.

Further information will be sent out as soon as it becomes available.

Yours sincerely

MALCOLM ALEXANDER
Director

Judith Blakeman
50 Wesley Square
LONDON
W11 1TS

30 January 2003

Dear Judith

Date of Abolition of CHCs

We have had it confirmed today that the announcement of the abolition of CHCs and ACHCEW will be made tomorrow, Friday 31st January by David Lammy, the Parliamentary Under Secretary of State for Health, at approximately 10am and that a further announcement will be made by the new Commission (CPPIH) in the afternoon.

The abolition date will be on Sept 1st 2003 and the new system of public and patient involvement (Patients' Forums) will be up and running by 1st April 2004. The ICAS system is expected to follow the development of Patients' Forums as money becomes available. The budget for the new system will be £34million. There will be 150 local organisations based on overview and scrutiny areas and each one of these bodies will be responsible for establishing the Patients' Forums in their area. In all there will be 500 Patients' Forums covering Primary Care Trusts and NHS Trusts.

Further information will be sent out as soon as it becomes available.

Yours sincerely

MALCOLM ALEXANDER
Director

Sally Brearley
27 Meadow Road
SUTTON
Surrey
SM1 4NF

30 January 2003

Dear Sally

Date of Abolition of CHCs

We have had it confirmed today that the announcement of the abolition of CHCs and ACHCEW will be made tomorrow, Friday 31st January by David Lammy, the Parliamentary Under Secretary of State for Health, at approximately 10am and that a further announcement will be made by the new Commission (CPPIH) in the afternoon.

The abolition date will be on Sept 1st 2003 and the new system of public and patient involvement (Patients' Forums) will be up and running by 1st April 2004. The ICAS system is expected to follow the development of Patients' Forums as money becomes available. The budget for the new system will be £34million. There will be 150 local organisations based on overview and scrutiny areas and each one of these bodies will be responsible for establishing the Patients' Forums in their area. In all there will be 500 Patients' Forums covering Primary Care Trusts and NHS Trusts.

Further information will be sent out as soon as it becomes available.

Yours sincerely

MALCOLM ALEXANDER
Director

Mark Woodcock
95 Crane Street
SALISBURY
WILTS
SP1 2PU

30 January 2003

Dear Mark

Date of Abolition of CHCs

We have had it confirmed today that the announcement of the abolition of CHCs and ACHCEW will be made tomorrow, Friday 31st January by David Lammy, the Parliamentary Under Secretary of State for Health, at approximately 10am and that a further announcement will be made by the new Commission (CPPIH) in the afternoon.

The abolition date will be on Sept 1st 2003 and the new system of public and patient involvement (Patients' Forums) will be up and running by 1st April 2004. The ICAS system is expected to follow the development of Patients' Forums as money becomes available. The budget for the new system will be £34million. There will be 150 local organisations based on overview and scrutiny areas and each one of these bodies will be responsible for establishing the Patients' Forums in their area. In all there will be 500 Patients' Forums covering Primary Care Trusts and NHS Trusts.

Further information will be sent out as soon as it becomes available.

Yours sincerely

MALCOLM ALEXANDER
Director

David Mattocks
Solihull CHC
Virginia House
56 Warwick Road
SOLIHULL
B92 7HX

30 January 2003

Dear David

Date of Abolition of CHCs

We have had it confirmed today that the announcement of the abolition of CHCs and ACHCEW will be made tomorrow, Friday 31st January by David Lammy, the Parliamentary Under Secretary of State for Health, at approximately 10am and that a further announcement will be made by the new Commission (CPPIH) in the afternoon.

The abolition date will be on Sept 1st 2003 and the new system of public and patient involvement (Patients' Forums) will be up and running by 1st April 2004. The ICAS system is expected to follow the development of Patients' Forums as money becomes available. The budget for the new system will be £34million. There will be 150 local organisations based on overview and scrutiny areas and each one of these bodies will be responsible for establishing the Patients' Forums in their area. In all there will be 500 Patients' Forums covering Primary Care Trusts and NHS Trusts.

Further information will be sent out as soon as it becomes available.

Yours sincerely

MALCOLM ALEXANDER
Director

Barry Fippard
4 Buttermere Close
LINCOLN
LN6 0YD

30 January 2003

Dear Barry

Date of Abolition of CHCs

We have had it confirmed today that the announcement of the abolition of CHCs and ACHCEW will be made tomorrow, Friday 31st January by David Lammy, the Parliamentary Under Secretary of State for Health, at approximately 10am and that a further announcement will be made by the new Commission (CPPIH) in the afternoon.

The abolition date will be on Sept 1st 2003 and the new system of public and patient involvement (Patients' Forums) will be up and running by 1st April 2004. The ICAS system is expected to follow the development of Patients' Forums as money becomes available. The budget for the new system will be £34million. There will be 150 local organisations based on overview and scrutiny areas and each one of these bodies will be responsible for establishing the Patients' Forums in their area. In all there will be 500 Patients' Forums covering Primary Care Trusts and NHS Trusts.

Further information will be sent out as soon as it becomes available.

Yours sincerely

MALCOLM ALEXANDER
Director

30 January 2003

Dear

Date of Abolition of CHCs

We have had it confirmed today that the announcement of the abolition of CHCs and ACHCEW will be made tomorrow, Friday 31st January by David Lammy, the Parliamentary Under Secretary of State for Health, at approximately 10am and that a further announcement will be made by the new Commission (CPPIH) in the afternoon.

The abolition date will be on Sept 1st 2003 and the new system of public and patient involvement (Patients' Forums) will be up and running by 1st April 2004. The ICAS system is expected to follow the development of Patients' Forums as money becomes available. The budget for the new system will be £34million. There will be 150 local organisations based on overview and scrutiny areas and each one of these bodies will be responsible for establishing the Patients' Forums in their area. In all there will be 500 Patients' Forums covering Primary Care Trusts and NHS Trusts.

Further information will be sent out as soon as it becomes available.

Yours sincerely

MALCOLM ALEXANDER
Director

Cath Arnold
Manchester North CHC
Lancaster Buildings
77 Deansgate
Manchester
M3 2BW

30 January 2003

Dear Cath

Date of Abolition of CHCs

We have had it confirmed today that the announcement of the abolition of CHCs and ACHCEW will be made tomorrow, Friday 31st January by David Lammy, the Parliamentary Under Secretary of State for Health, at approximately 10am and that a further announcement will be made by the new Commission (CPPIH) in the afternoon.

The abolition date will be on Sept 1st 2003 and the new system of public and patient involvement (Patients' Forums) will be up and running by 1st April 2004. The ICAS system is expected to follow the development of Patients' Forums as money becomes available. The budget for the new system will be £34million. There will be 150 local organisations based on overview and scrutiny areas and each one of these bodies will be responsible for establishing the Patients' Forums in their area. In all there will be 500 Patients' Forums covering Primary Care Trusts and NHS Trusts.

Further information will be sent out as soon as it becomes available.

Yours sincerely

MALCOLM ALEXANDER
Director

David Spilsbury
106 Cannon Hill Road
Cannon Hill
BIRMINGHAM
B12 9NL

30 January 2003

Dear David

Date of Abolition of CHCs

We have had it confirmed today that the announcement of the abolition of CHCs and ACHCEW will be made tomorrow, Friday 31st January by David Lammy, the Parliamentary Under Secretary of State for Health, at approximately 10am and that a further announcement will be made by the new Commission (CPPIH) in the afternoon.

The abolition date will be on Sept 1st 2003 and the new system of public and patient involvement (Patients' Forums) will be up and running by 1st April 2004. The ICAS system is expected to follow the development of Patients' Forums as money becomes available. The budget for the new system will be £34million. There will be 150 local organisations based on overview and scrutiny areas and each one of these bodies will be responsible for establishing the Patients' Forums in their area. In all there will be 500 Patients' Forums covering Primary Care Trusts and NHS Trusts.

Further information will be sent out as soon as it becomes available.

Yours sincerely

MALCOLM ALEXANDER
Director

Alice Clarke
Somerset CHC
Bowman House
6 Billetfield
Taunton
TA1 3NN

30 January 2003

Dear Alice

Date of Abolition of CHCs

We have had it confirmed today that the announcement of the abolition of CHCs and ACHCEW will be made tomorrow, Friday 31st January by David Lammy, the Parliamentary Under Secretary of State for Health, at approximately 10am and that a further announcement will be made by the new Commission (CPPIH) in the afternoon.

The abolition date will be on Sept 1st 2003 and the new system of public and patient involvement (Patients' Forums) will be up and running by 1st April 2004. The ICAS system is expected to follow the development of Patients' Forums as money becomes available. The budget for the new system will be £34million. There will be 150 local organisations based on overview and scrutiny areas and each one of these bodies will be responsible for establishing the Patients' Forums in their area. In all there will be 500 Patients' Forums covering Primary Care Trusts and NHS Trusts.

Further information will be sent out as soon as it becomes available.

Yours sincerely

MALCOLM ALEXANDER
Director

Donald Roy
Flat 2
58a Hazlewell Road
LONDON
SW15 6LR

30 January 2003

Dear Donald

Date of Abolition of CHCs

We have had it confirmed today that the announcement of the abolition of CHCs and ACHCEW will be made tomorrow, Friday 31st January by David Lammy, the Parliamentary Under Secretary of State for Health, at approximately 10am and that a further announcement will be made by the new Commission (CPPIH) in the afternoon.

The abolition date will be on Sept 1st 2003 and the new system of public and patient involvement (Patients' Forums) will be up and running by 1st April 2004. The ICAS system is expected to follow the development of Patients' Forums as money becomes available. The budget for the new system will be £34million. There will be 150 local organisations based on overview and scrutiny areas and each one of these bodies will be responsible for establishing the Patients' Forums in their area. In all there will be 500 Patients' Forums covering Primary Care Trusts and NHS Trusts.

Further information will be sent out as soon as it becomes available.

Yours sincerely

MALCOLM ALEXANDER
Director

30 January 2003

Dear

Date of Abolition of CHCs

We have had it confirmed today that the announcement of the abolition of CHCs and ACHCEW will be made tomorrow, Friday 31st January by David Lammy, the Parliamentary Under Secretary of State for Health, at approximately 10am and that a further announcement will be made by the new Commission (CPPIH) in the afternoon.

The abolition date will be on Sept 1st 2003 and the new system of public and patient involvement (Patients' Forums) will be up and running by 1st April 2004. The ICAS system is expected to follow the development of Patients' Forums as money becomes available. The budget for the new system will be £34million. There will be 150 local organisations based on overview and scrutiny areas and each one of these bodies will be responsible for establishing the Patients' Forums in their area. In all there will be 500 Patients' Forums covering Primary Care Trusts and NHS Trusts.

Further information will be sent out as soon as it becomes available.

Yours sincerely

MALCOLM ALEXANDER
Director

Celia Davies
Greenwich CHC
23 Angelsea Road
LONDON
SE18 6EG

30 January 2003

Dear Celia

Date of Abolition of CHCs

We have had it confirmed today that the announcement of the abolition of CHCs and ACHCEW will be made tomorrow, Friday 31st January by David Lammy, the Parliamentary Under Secretary of State for Health, at approximately 10am and that a further announcement will be made by the new Commission (CPPIH) in the afternoon.

The abolition date will be on Sept 1st 2003 and the new system of public and patient involvement (Patients' Forums) will be up and running by 1st April 2004. The ICAS system is expected to follow the development of Patients' Forums as money becomes available. The budget for the new system will be £34million. There will be 150 local organisations based on overview and scrutiny areas and each one of these bodies will be responsible for establishing the Patients' Forums in their area. In all there will be 500 Patients' Forums covering Primary Care Trusts and NHS Trusts.

Further information will be sent out as soon as it becomes available.

Yours sincerely

MALCOLM ALEXANDER
Director

Bill Marks
City and Hackney CHC
210 Kingsland Road
LONDON
E2 8EB

30 January 2003

Dear Bill

Date of Abolition of CHCs

We have had it confirmed today that the announcement of the abolition of CHCs and ACHCEW will be made tomorrow, Friday 31st January by David Lammy, the Parliamentary Under Secretary of State for Health, at approximately 10am and that a further announcement will be made by the new Commission (CPPIH) in the afternoon.

The abolition date will be on Sept 1st 2003 and the new system of public and patient involvement (Patients' Forums) will be up and running by 1st April 2004. The ICAS system is expected to follow the development of Patients' Forums as money becomes available. The budget for the new system will be £34million. There will be 150 local organisations based on overview and scrutiny areas and each one of these bodies will be responsible for establishing the Patients' Forums in their area. In all there will be 500 Patients' Forums covering Primary Care Trusts and NHS Trusts.

Further information will be sent out as soon as it becomes available.

Yours sincerely

MALCOLM ALEXANDER
Director

David Walsh
38 Watson Road
Worksop
NOTTINGHAM
S80 2BQ

30 January 2003

Dear David

Date of Abolition of CHCs

We have had it confirmed today that the announcement of the abolition of CHCs and ACHCEW will be made tomorrow, Friday 31st January by David Lammy, the Parliamentary Under Secretary of State for Health, at approximately 10am and that a further announcement will be made by the new Commission (CPPIH) in the afternoon.

The abolition date will be on Sept 1st 2003 and the new system of public and patient involvement (Patients' Forums) will be up and running by 1st April 2004. The ICAS system is expected to follow the development of Patients' Forums as money becomes available. The budget for the new system will be £34million. There will be 150 local organisations based on overview and scrutiny areas and each one of these bodies will be responsible for establishing the Patients' Forums in their area. In all there will be 500 Patients' Forums covering Primary Care Trusts and NHS Trusts.

Further information will be sent out as soon as it becomes available.

Yours sincerely

MALCOLM ALEXANDER
Director

Susan O'Donnell
North Derbyshire CHC
86 Saltergate
CHESTERFIELD
S40 1LG

30 January 2003

Dear Susan

Date of Abolition of CHCs

We have had it confirmed today that the announcement of the abolition of CHCs and ACHCEW will be made tomorrow, Friday 31st January by David Lammy, the Parliamentary Under Secretary of State for Health, at approximately 10am and that a further announcement will be made by the new Commission (CPPIH) in the afternoon.

The abolition date will be on Sept 1st 2003 and the new system of public and patient involvement (Patients' Forums) will be up and running by 1st April 2004. The ICAS system is expected to follow the development of Patients' Forums as money becomes available. The budget for the new system will be £34million. There will be 150 local organisations based on overview and scrutiny areas and each one of these bodies will be responsible for establishing the Patients' Forums in their area. In all there will be 500 Patients' Forums covering Primary Care Trusts and NHS Trusts.

Further information will be sent out as soon as it becomes available.

Yours sincerely

MALCOLM ALEXANDER
Director

Keith Jackson
6 Rampton End
Willingham
CAMBRIDGE
CB4 5JB

30 January 2003

Dear Keith

Date of Abolition of CHCs

We have had it confirmed today that the announcement of the abolition of CHCs and ACHCEW will be made tomorrow, Friday 31st January by David Lammy, the Parliamentary Under Secretary of State for Health, at approximately 10am and that a further announcement will be made by the new Commission (CPPIH) in the afternoon.

The abolition date will be on Sept 1st 2003 and the new system of public and patient involvement (Patients' Forums) will be up and running by 1st April 2004. The ICAS system is expected to follow the development of Patients' Forums as money becomes available. The budget for the new system will be £34million. There will be 150 local organisations based on overview and scrutiny areas and each one of these bodies will be responsible for establishing the Patients' Forums in their area. In all there will be 500 Patients' Forums covering Primary Care Trusts and NHS Trusts.

Further information will be sent out as soon as it becomes available.

Yours sincerely

MALCOLM ALEXANDER
Director

John Biggs
North and Mid Beds CHC
41/43 Mill Street
BEDFORD
MK40 3EU

30 January 2003

Dear John

Date of Abolition of CHCs

We have had it confirmed today that the announcement of the abolition of CHCs and ACHCEW will be made tomorrow, Friday 31st January by David Lammy, the Parliamentary Under Secretary of State for Health, at approximately 10am and that a further announcement will be made by the new Commission (CPPIH) in the afternoon.

The abolition date will be on Sept 1st 2003 and the new system of public and patient involvement (Patients' Forums) will be up and running by 1st April 2004. The ICAS system is expected to follow the development of Patients' Forums as money becomes available. The budget for the new system will be £34million. There will be 150 local organisations based on overview and scrutiny areas and each one of these bodies will be responsible for establishing the Patients' Forums in their area. In all there will be 500 Patients' Forums covering Primary Care Trusts and NHS Trusts.

Further information will be sent out as soon as it becomes available.

Yours sincerely

MALCOLM ALEXANDER
Director

Trevor Gauntlett
133 Donvale Road
Washington
TYNE AND WEAR
NE37 1DW

30 January 2003

Dear Trevor

Date of Abolition of CHCs

We have had it confirmed today that the announcement of the abolition of CHCs and ACHCEW will be made tomorrow, Friday 31st January by David Lammy, the Parliamentary Under Secretary of State for Health, at approximately 10am and that a further announcement will be made by the new Commission (CPPIH) in the afternoon.

The abolition date will be on Sept 1st 2003 and the new system of public and patient involvement (Patients' Forums) will be up and running by 1st April 2004. The ICAS system is expected to follow the development of Patients' Forums as money becomes available. The budget for the new system will be £34million. There will be 150 local organisations based on overview and scrutiny areas and each one of these bodies will be responsible for establishing the Patients' Forums in their area. In all there will be 500 Patients' Forums covering Primary Care Trusts and NHS Trusts.

Further information will be sent out as soon as it becomes available.

Yours sincerely

MALCOLM ALEXANDER
Director

Ian Mason
95 Lobley Hill Road
Gateshead
TYNE AND WEAR
NE8 4XB

30 January 2003

Dear Ian

Date of Abolition of CHCs

We have had it confirmed today that the announcement of the abolition of CHCs and ACHCEW will be made tomorrow, Friday 31st January by David Lammy, the Parliamentary Under Secretary of State for Health, at approximately 10am and that a further announcement will be made by the new Commission (CPPIH) in the afternoon.

The abolition date will be on Sept 1st 2003 and the new system of public and patient involvement (Patients' Forums) will be up and running by 1st April 2004. The ICAS system is expected to follow the development of Patients' Forums as money becomes available. The budget for the new system will be £34million. There will be 150 local organisations based on overview and scrutiny areas and each one of these bodies will be responsible for establishing the Patients' Forums in their area. In all there will be 500 Patients' Forums covering Primary Care Trusts and NHS Trusts.

Further information will be sent out as soon as it becomes available.

Yours sincerely

MALCOLM ALEXANDER
Director